	COUS COUS

Cous Cous is a quick, easy to cook, tasty, and nutritious dish. In fact, according to North African folklore, cous cous has magical properties and has traditionally been a special dish eaten at times of celebration, it is also served to celebrate the birth of a child. New mothers are given it to help them regain their strength. One of the reasons cous cous is so popular around the world is that it is so versatile. Its light fluffy texture lends itself to being transformed into savoury or sweet recipes. Cous cous is made from semolina flour and a little salt and water. It's incredibly simple to prepare - just add hot water , and hey presto! – a great tasting meal. Cous cous can be used instead of rice, pasta or potatoes as an alternative carbohydrate. It is the perfect food for busy but health conscious people. It has a medium glycaemic index which means it is absorbed slowly into the body helping to stabilise blood sugars and helps prevents cravings for sweet foods. So good for weight watchers too! Cous cous is low in saturated fat, cholesterol and sodium and is a good source for selenium a mineral which helps the body's immune system and is essential for good health.

Cous cous contains: protein, which the body needs to grow and repair itself, fibre that can help the body get rid of waste products and B vitamins, which release the energy from the food we eat and help the body to work properly. Cous cous can be eaten hot or cold and in salads.

	RICE
Arborio rice is a variety of refined rice, is high in starch, with grains that are shorter and fatter than any other rice. When properly cooked, arborio rice develops a unique texture with a starchy creamy surface and a firm bite in the center, so it is traditionally used for risottos.
Carnaroli rice from the super fine rice group. Carnaroli rice is particularly suitable for risottos due to a grain rich in amyllum starch, which contributes to its notable firmness. Carnaroli rice has a large and long grain. Carnaroli rice is perfect for exquisite rice dishes. Carnaroli is appreciated by professional chefs and recommended for risottos and fine dishes.

San Benedetto is an elite, low sodium, mineral delicacy, that carries a 30mg/L of Magnesium. Magnesium is the fourth most abundant mineral in the body and is essential to good health. Every drop arrives from a long underground journey, unchanged for thousands of years. 	NANDOS
Nando's Peri-Peri is the perfect blend of flavour and fire. Whether chicken lovers prefer Nando's Peri-Peri Chicken prepared with the cooler lemon and herb or the fiery extra hot (for the slightly insane), they will always get to taste the unique flavour of their chicken - there is something for everyone's taste. It is well known that Nando's Peri-Peri has an exceptionally high content of vitamin C and that our Peri-Peri is believed to release endorphins. Endorphins are responsible for that natural high that, when combined with excited taste buds, cause people to develop a healthy addiction to Nando's Peri-Peri.
Peri-Peri Is the African name for the Bird's Eye Chilli.

In 1932 Giuseppe Zarpellon decided to establish a company to manufacture dairy products, at the foot of the Venetian Alps. Today Zarpellon is the leading cheese manufacturer in the world, making cheeses including Parmigiano Reggiano, Montasio, Asiago, and Provolone to name a few. Their number one cheese, and one they strive themselves on is their Grana Padano, producing 90,000 wheels per year. Zarpellon currently staffs 120 people in a 22,000 sqm warehouse, with an annual turnover of over $100 million Euros per year.
